

Ribbon Fish

This fish can be used on a greeting card, a scrapbook page or can be worn as jewelry. This design was originally made of palm leaves and is a traditional craft in Thailand.

Make a loop out of a strip of ribbon as shown in the picture above

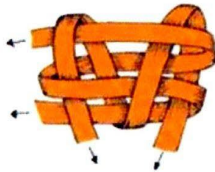

This is what the loop should look like. Keep the loop loosely in your fingers while making the knot.

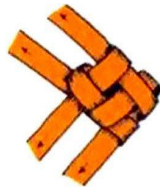

Take a second strip and bring it through the first loop as shown in the picture

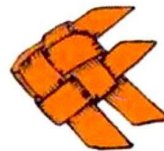

Continue to bring the strip behind and through the back as shown in the picture

Gently tighten by pulling on all the ends of the strips. Pull in the direction of the arrows.

Keep adjusting the ribbon until you get the shape as in the picture

Trim the fins at an angle with scissors. Attach to a card or make a little fish mobile!
